

Desperate Need

A little boy named Manuel get his water from the village well in the afternoon

He brings it back to his family; they light a candle so that they can see the faces in this room

Mama passes out the rice she made; same exact thing they ate yesterday and the day before

Daddy works as a fisherman, but he's been coming home empty handed they can't take anymore

They cannot take anymore

And you and me are watching NBC, they run a special report on world poverty

But we got bills to pay; the cable bill's due today

While families all across the world, with little baby boys and little baby girls are in desperate need

They are in desperate need

But Manuel finds a glimpse of hope; there's a mission just down the road for kids like him

So Manuel prays every night, that he would be chosen and that God would provide

Someone to give Manuel a chance to live

But you and me are watching NBC, they run a special report on world poverty

But we got bills to pay; the cable bill's due today

While families all across the world, with little baby boys and little baby girls are in desperate need

They are in desperate need