Out On A Limb

The car lights shine up ahead at a fork in the road

The driver scratches his head he don't know which way to go

He's entering uncharted land in the middle of the night

And he can't understand but you know we're gonna be alright

Out on a limb, out on a limb, out on a limb

We can go to a place we've never been before

We don't have to replace our face on the floor

It's ok to burn a bridge if you don't turn around

Sometimes it's easier to speak your mind in the absence of sound

Let the light that you live define who you are

And when darkness seems to be all around

Just remember who brought you this far

Out on a limb, out on a limb, out on a limb

We can go to a place we've never been before

We don't have to replace our face on the floor

Just rely on the grace of the Lord to restore

The courage you need to walk out that door
